DARK MATTER
A Novel
by Blake Crouch
(Crown)

"Once on the fast-track to academic stardom, Jason Dessen finds his quiet family life and career upended when a stranger kidnaps him. Suddenly Jason's idle "what-ifs" become panicked "what-nows," as the humble quantum physics professor from a small Chicago college gets to explore the roads not taken with a mind-bending invention that opens doors to other worlds. This fun science fiction thriller is also a thoughtful page-turner with heart that should appeal to fans of Harlan Coben."

THE LAST ONE
A Novel
by Alexandra Oliva
(Ballantine Books)

"The Last One tells the story of twelve contestants who are sent to the wilderness in a Survivor-like reality show. But while they're away, the world changes completely and what is real and what is not begins to blur. It's post-apocalyptic literary fiction at it's best. With a fast pace and a wry sense of humor, this is the kind of book that will appeal to readers of both literary and genre fiction alike. It points out the absurdity of reality television without feeling condescending. As the readers wake up to the realities of a new world, it becomes difficult to put down."

—Leah White, Elia Area Public Library, Lake Zurich, IL

THE UNSEEN WORLD
A Novel
by Liz Moore
(W.W. Norton & Company)

"The Unseen World is a compelling read with vibrant, finely constructed characters. Moore intertwines a complex coming of age story with the science of cryptology and the history of artificial intelligence, while simultaneously exploring the meaning of love, loss and belonging. The core of the novel explores the relationship between Ada and her scientist father David. When a tragedy upends their routine lives, Ada embarks on a journey of self-discovery that will eventually lead her to new truths. Elements of mystery and suspense keep you turning the pages in this multi-layered gem of a book."

TRULY MADLY GUILTY
by Liane Moriarty
(Flatiron Books)

"A typical afternoon barbecue among friends becomes something much bigger when one pivotal moment of inattention leads to repercussions for all in attendance. In trademark Moriarty style, the story flashes back and forth between the day of the barbecue and two months later, slowly revealing the events of the day and its consequences, creating a delicious momentum for the reader as the tension builds and the pieces fall into place. Moriarty has another sure-fire winner with this look at the complexities of friendship, marriage, and familial relationships."

by Wendy Walker
(St. Martin's Press)

"A dark, twisty, intricately-plotted psychological thriller about a teen girl, assaulted after a party, as she tries to regain her memories of the event after taking a controversial drug that erases traumatic memories. Walker's many plot and character threads are carefully placed, and she weaves them all together into a satisfying, shattering conclusion. I'm betting we'll be seeing this title in a LOT of beach bags over the summer."

—Gregg Winsor, Johnson County Library, Roeland Park, KS

THE HOPEFULS
A Novel
by Jennifer Close (Knopf)

she is forced to admit to herself that Matt is just not quite as attractive, magnetic or charismatic as his rival-friend, Jimmy.....who harbors similar political aspirations. The Hopefuls is on point in its descriptions of young marriage, career ambition, and complicated friendships. The characters are completely compelling. I was overdue for a great read and this was it!"

SIRACUSA
by Delia Ephron
(Blue Rider Press)

"Michael and Lizzie are vacationing with another couple and their daughter, named Snow. As the story unfolds, the reader is introduced to infidelities. Ephron does a tremendous job in exposing the frailties of relationships and it feels like being intimate with other people's problems but without the guilt. Engaging and tough to put down. Great summer read!"

—Andrienne Cruz, Azusa City Library, Azusa, CA

NINE WOMEN, ONE DRESS
A Novel
by Jane L. Rosen
(Doubleday)

"Nine Women, One Dress sends the reader on a journey with many characters and the little black dress of the season. From the soon-retiring dress designer and the first-time runway model, to the retail salesperson and an actor, this book relates how the dress touches and, often profoundly, changes the lives of all. Even though there were many characters in this book, the author immersed the reader into their lives. Romance, humor, and irony spark the plot as the dress travels from one life to another. A charming read!"
