The top ten books published this month that librarians across the country love.

SEPTMBER 2014

STATION ELEVEN
A Novel
by Emily St. John Mandel (Knopf)
“An actor playing King Lear dies onstage just before a cataclysmic event changes the future of everyone on Earth. What will be valued and what will be discarded? Will art have a place in a world that has lost so much? What will make life worth living? These are just some of the issues explored in this beautifully written dystopian novel. Recommended for fans of David Mitchell, John Scalzi and Kate Atkinson.”
—Janet Lockhart, Wake County Public Libraries, Cary, NC

TANA FRENCH
A Novel
by Tana French (Viking Adult)
“French has broken my heart yet again with her fifth novel, which examines the ways in which teenagers and adults can be wily, calculating, and backstabbing, even with their friends. The tension-filled flashback narratives, relating to a murder investigation in suburban Dublin, will keep you turning pages late into the night.”
—Alison McCarty, Nassau County Public Library System, Callahan, FL

THE CHILDREN ACT
A Novel
by Ian McEwan (Nan A. Talese)
“Judge Fiona Maye is at a difficult point in her marriage. Taking refuge in addressing other people’s problems in family court, Fiona extends herself more than usual, meeting a boy whose future is in her hands. McEwan is a masterful observer of human distress. With a simple story and flawed, genuine characters, this novel is poignant and insightful.”
—Jennifer Alexander, St. Louis County Library, St. Louis, MO

THE SECRET PLACE
A Novel
by Tana French (Viking Adult)
“French has broken my heart yet again with her fifth novel, which examines the ways in which teenagers and adults can be wily, calculating, and backstabbing, even with their friends. The tension-filled flashback narratives, relating to a murder investigation in suburban Dublin, will keep you turning pages late into the night.”
—Alison McCarty, Nassau County Public Library System, Callahan, FL

THE DISTANCE
A Thriller
by Helen Giltrow ( Doubleday)
“Imagine a modern-day Robin Hood who deals not in money, but identity. Karla, the protagonist of The Distance, is a tech guru with a conscience, and the security of several nations dependent on her. This nuanced book kept me on the edge of my seat. I cannot wait until the next one comes out.”
—Cathy Scheib, Indianapolis Public Library, Indianapolis, IN

HORRORSTÖR
A Novel
by Grady Hendrix (Quirk Books)
“Do you know how some horror movies would work better as novels? Horrorstor is that book, perfectly capturing everything that is terrific about the horror genre. In its catalog-style pages, you’ll find a hefty dose of satire, as a Scandinavian furniture store is transformed overnight into a prison. With characters that you’re rooting for and terror that creeps up on you, Horrorstor will keep you up all night in the best possible way.”
—Donna Matturri, Pickerington Public Library, Pickerington, OH

THE WITCH WITH NO NAME
A Novel
by Kim Harrison (Harper Voyager)
“In this book, Harrison ends her long-running Hollows series, featuring witch Rachel Morgan, vampire Ivy, and pixy Jenks. Rachel’s come a long way; now, she and her friends attempt the impossible and face their toughest battle yet. Harrison skilfully wraps up many plot points, leaving readers sad that the series is over but satisfied by its ending. Fans will surely cheer Rachel on and shed a tear or two.”
—Irene Lefkowitz, Denville Public Library, Denville, NJ

ROOMS
A Novel
by Lauren Oliver (Ecco)
“A family comes to terms with their estranged father’s death in Oliver’s first novel for adults. Told from the perspective of two ghosts living in the old house, this unique story weaves characters and explores their various past connections. Great book!”
—Rachel Fewell, Denver Public Library, Denver, CO

SEASON OF STORMS
by Susanna Kearsley (Sourcebooks Landmark)
“Once again, Kearsley introduces you to a cast of characters who will quickly hold a special place in your heart. Celia and Alex mirror lovers from decades past, sharing similar secrets and passions. Flashbacks are woven seamlessly into the storyline, and the strong family component is handled beautifully, with surprising twists and turns.”
—Marianne Colton, Lockport Public Library, Lockport, NY

Find out more at www.LibraryReads.org