The LibraryReads Hall of Fame designation honors authors who have had multiple titles appear on the monthly LibraryReads list since 2013. When their third title places on the list via library staff votes, the author moves into the Hall of Fame.

JULY 2022

Find out more at www.LibraryReads.org
JULY 2022

The LibraryReads Hall of Fame designation honors authors who have had multiple titles appear on the monthly LibraryReads list since 2013. When their third title places on the list via library staff votes, the author moves into the Hall of Fame.

The Last to Vanish
A Novel
by Megan Miranda
(Scribner / Marysue Rucci Books)

"Visitors keep vanishing from Cutter’s Pass in the North Carolina mountains. Abby thinks it’s a coincidence, but when the brother of the last person to disappear checks in at the inn where she has been working for 10 years, she starts to wonder if there’s more to it. A good page-turner with slightly creepy vibes."

—Heidi Sandiford, Hillsdale Free Public Library, Hillsdale, NJ

Novelists read-alike: The Sun Down Motel by Simone St. James

Storm Echo
by Nalini Singh
(Berkley)

"Scared in the womb by his mother’s Jax usage, Merchant family security specialist Ivan has an abnormal brain and knows he might need to be caged in the future. When he meets Soleil, a healer shifter, he finds hope for a better future. As these two characters learn what it means to be mated, the PsyNet is assaulted, and only Ivan can access the cutoff area. Amazing addition to this series!"

—Susana Goldman, Alamance County Public Libraries, Burlington, NC

Novelists read-alike: BeWore My Heart series by MaryJanice Davidson

Things We Do In The Dark
A Novel
by Jennifer Hillier
(Minotaur Books)

"Famous comedian Jimmy-Pesalita is found dead, and his wife Paris, covered in blood at the crime scene, is arrested. In the second part, Drew Malcolm, a reporter with a popular podcast, is chasing the story of Ruby Reys, the infamous Ice Queen, who stumped her lover to death with an ice skate. As these two people become connected, the reader is drawn into a web of lies and compelling characters. For fans of These Toxic Things and Blood Will Tell."

—Carla Dubiel, Twinsburg Public Library, Twinsburg, OH

Novelists read-alike: Conviction by Denise Mina

Tomorrow, And Tomorrow, And Tomorrow
A Novel
by Gabrielle Zevin
(Knopf)

“Sam and Sadie were childhood friends, but now reunited as adults, they decide to form a company designing video games. A sprawling look at friends who love each other but not as lovers and lovers who try to be friends and fail, the human need for connection, and searching for perfection. A must for fans of Ready Player One who want a deeper connection to the emotional lives of the characters.”

—Kimberly McGee, Lake Travis Community Library, Austin, TX

Novelists read-alike: The Animators by Kayla Rae Whitaker

Upgrade
A Novel
by Blake Crouch
(Ballantine Books)

“In Crouch’s newest sci-fi thriller Logan Ramsay works for the Gene Protection Agency and is exposed to an unknown compound. After he’s released from the hospital, Logan’s mind is working faster than ever before, his memory continues to improve, and he’s faster and stronger too. But who could have caused these genetic upgrades in Logan and why? For fans of The Paradox Hotel, Six Wakes, and Altered Carbon.”

—Dan Brooks, Wake County Public Libraries, Raleigh, NC

Novelists read-alike: Noor by Nnedi Okorafor

Find out more at www.LibraryReads.org